ICONS

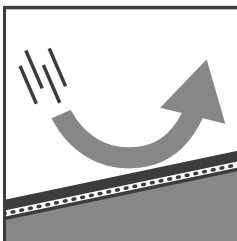

Waterproof

Resists water droplets from passing through. Water resistance is measured by the amount of water, in mm, which can be suspended above the Fabric before water seeps through.

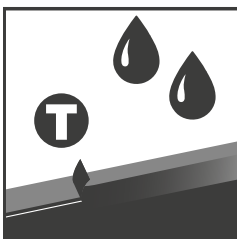

Breathable

Allows body heat and perspiration to pass through. Breathability is measured by the rate at which water vapour passes through, in units of grams of water vapour per square meter of Fabric per 24 hours.

Windproof

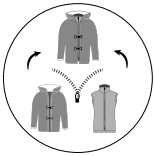

“Windproof” fabric doesn’t let the wind come through. It is very useful to keep you warm. Fabrics are made windproof by membrane or by weaving them very tightly so that the gaps between the threads are too small for air to pass through at a certain speed.

Taped seams

This is a method used to make materials waterproof by putting a waterproof tape or liquid sealant along the seams (usually on the inside so it can't be seen).

INTERCHANGEABLE LINING SYSTEM

As it is important to be able to move comfortably, even in difficult circumstances, Baleno has developed the Interchangeable Lining System or I.L.S. Because of the I.L.S. system, the type of lining in a certain model can be changed, depending on the circumstances. Our I.L.S. products are quickly and easily adapted to better suit different weather conditions, making sure that the wearer can continue work in the most flexible and comfortable way. Look for the I.L.S. logo for models to which this applies.
